CEREMONIAL OBJECTS — A Havdalah set of Jewish ceremonial objects was created by Arie Ofir for his show of silver works now on view at the Concepts Gallery in Carmel. The set consists of (from left) a Kiddush cup, a candle holder and a spice box. The set is used in the Jewish ritual of celebrating the onset of the Sabbat and the week that follows. The spice box and candle holder illustrate Ofir's use of indentation as a design concept.