Dear Mr. Ofir:

This is a written letter to confirm our conversation today concerning an additional order of Shabbat candlesticks. The Charles E. Smith Jewish Day School is placing an order for eight (8) pairs of candlesticks. The cost for each pair is $220. The total cost for this order is $1,760.

The balance remaining on the mezuzot and the original order of fifteen pairs of candlesticks is $1,200. I have already arranged for this balance plus the cost of the new order to be deposited in your bank, via Telex, as done previously. The total deposit is $2,960.

I have enclosed a partial list of inscriptions for the candlesticks. I am still missing a few names, and I will send them as soon as I can.

Everyone is very pleased with the candlesticks and mezuzot. It is our privilege to have your work inaugurate our series of ritual objects for the home. Everything is exquisite.

We are also very happy that everything worked out with Yoram Agmon. Mr. Agmon was able to save us a great deal of time.

Once again, thank you for all of your efforts.

Sincerely,

Julian Goldman
